The Istituto comprensivo De Gasperi - Stefano da Putignano ^[1], in the Province of Bari, will participate in the 8th edition of the Global Junior Challenge ^[2] in the "up to 10 years old" category with a project that integrates reading and writing.

"What a Nice Adventure: an integrated approach to reading and writing ^[3]" is an educational active and multi-channel course to learn by doing with concrete stories and experiences that influence our emotions. The project was developed by a primary school class over a school year. At the end of the year, the students explained the work to the adults in an open lesson.
